

Contents

Welcome from HRH The Prince of Wales	Patron DSWA	6
Introduction to the 12th International Dry Stone Walling Congress	Richard Love	7
Welcome from SPS	'Ada Acovitsioti-Hameau	8
Keynote speaker	Eric Robson Chair, Cumbria Tourism	9
History and Origins of Dry Stone Walling
The Dry Stone Walling Association of Great Britain: the first 40 years	Richard Love	10
An Early Book on Dry Stone Walling	David Hannay	14
Dry Stone in Great Britain	Brian Jones	17
Dry stone walls and piles: breakings and partitions that carry social links	'Ada Acovitsioti-Hameau	19
Dry Stone Walling – old and new in the landscape	Claire Cornu	23
Dry stone walling, safeguarding of the heritage of senior cantons of the Hérault	Claude Froideveaux	27
Terraced fields sustained by dry stone walls – a landmark of the Cevennes landscape	Didier Lecuyer	30
The Ecomuseum of the terraced landscape: from invisible to visible, from no value to main asset	Donatella Murtas	33
Adopting terraces and maintaining cultural landscapes: Dry-stone works between inside and outside	Mauro Varotto & Luca Lodatti	36
A recent addition to the cultural landscape of South Wales – success or not?	Philip Clark	40
Drystone, The Essential Foundation for all Stonework - Quoting St. Kilda and Other International Examples	Nick Aitken	42
Conservation, including urban/industrial heritage
Galloway dykes – from civil unrest to community cohesion	Nic Coombey	45
The protection and development of dry stone in the local plans of urban heritage	Roselyne Pilat, Denis Lacaille & Jean-Paul Lavergne	47
From The Pyramids to the Wailing Wall: the stone structures of the North Wales slate industry	Sean Adcock	52
Dry Stone Walls of Creuse - witnesses to economic history	Charlotte Cornevin	56
Training and Building Techniques
Professional training and qualification in France	Cathie O'Neill	58
Walls for the Future	Sally Hodgson and Andrew Brown-Jackson	60
Dry stone wall construction in Cyclades – the case of Amorgos: methods, techniques, problems and repairs	George Antoniou	62
Hiska at Kras in Slovenia	Domen Zupancic	66
Substructures of covered bridges in New England: Factors influencing methods of construction and deterioration.	Michael Weitzner	69
Spanning the Gap: Dry Stone Conservancy's training and restoration program builds bridges and revives the craft in the United States.	Jane Wooley & Neil Rippingale	73
Irish Dry Stone walls	Patrick McAfee	77
A study about regional technical methods associated with the aesthetics of dry stone	Bernd Schulze zur Verth	81

Classification & recording

The Melton Dry Stone Walls Study, Australia

A Cycladic settlement in dry-stone in the island of Amorgos and the development of alternative forms of tourism

Casas Bajas: the example of a vast set of constructions of traditional dry stone walls

Stone and earth possibilities in sub-Saharan Africa

Square root of three in vernacular use

News of Dry Stone Walls

Jim Holdsworth, 83
Raelene Marshall & David Moloney

Ioulia Papaeftychiou 87

Xavier Laumain & 91
Angela Lopez Sabater

Richard Tufnell 93

Borut Juvanec 96

Jean Cabanel 99

Biodiversity of walls

Drystone walls, microcosms of the biodiversity

Daniele Larcena & Claire Hostein 100

Dry Stone Walling as Art

Dry Stone Walls - the Art and the Craft 2010

Nick Farrar 103

Dry stone Art in the Australian Landscape: from the artisan skills of the early settlers to the influence of Andy Goldsworthy on contemporary dry stone sculpture

Raelene Marshall 106

Fun with stability: why some walls fall down and others don't!

Theo Schmidt 110

Speakers' contact details 113

Field Trips 114

Thanks 116

Work starts on building the seat foundations.
Photo by Alison Shaw

The seat starts to take shape.
Photo by Alison Shaw

Making sure the lines are straight.
Photo by Alison Shaw

The finished seat.
Photo by Caitlin Bisknell